Info: Important Direct Loan discharge information for you.

Dear JONATHAN,

The U.S. Department of Education (ED) recently notified you by email or mail that your application for discharge of your student loan(s) has been approved and that you will receive partial or full relief based on the review of your claim. In an earlier notice, ED informed you that your federal loan servicer would follow up on the status of your discharge. This notice provides that additional information. This notice also does not affect any private loans you took out to pay for your (or your child's) education.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

We have discharged your federal loan(s) that ED determined met the standards for relief. As a result, you do not owe any balance on your federal loan account serviced by us.

Note: This discharge notice applies only to the federal loans associated with your approved borrower defense discharge application and identified below. Any loans you took out from a private student loan lender do not qualify for borrower defense discharge. You may still have a remaining balance to be paid on other federal student loans you took out to pay for your (or your child's) education that are serviced by us or another federal student loan servicer. You can review your federal student loan and servicer information in your Aid Summary at StudentAid.gov.
